QUESTIONNAIRE TO BE GIVEN STUDENTS AT FRIDAY CHAPEL

Annual Expression of Public Opinion Sponsored by CAMPUS.

TO PRINT TABULATED RESULTS NEXT WEEK

Monitors to Collect Answers Following the Chapel Service.

The annual questionnaire is being given this week under the direction of the CAMPUS.

Copies will be distributed Friday at chapel. Students are requested to fill them out at that time and leave them with the monitors at the doors.

The questions are published today in the CAMPUS in order that students may give them intelligent consideration and have the answers ready when the blanks are handed out Friday.

The results will be tabulated in the next issue of the CAMPUS.

The questionnaire follows:

Class?
Men's or Women's college?
Who is the most respected man in Middlebury?
Who is the most respected woman in Middlebury?
Who is the most outstanding man at Middlebury?
Who is the most outstanding woman at Middlebury?
Who is the most outstanding athlete in the men's college?
Who is the most outstanding athlete in the women's college?
Who is the best looking man in Middlebury?
Who is the best looking woman in Middlebury?
Who is the best dressed man in Middlebury?
Who is the best dressed woman in Middlebury?
The favorite sport in which you participate?
What sport do you most enjoy watching?
Favorite men's college after Middlebury?

MELODIANS OBTAINED FOR THE SENIOR BALL

Senior Week Activities to Extend From June 13 Through June 15.

McNeely's Melodians of Oneonta, N. Y., have been obtained for the 1931 senior ball, the closing social function of the college year, which will be held June 15 at the McCullough gymnasium, from 9:00 p. m. to 3:00 a. m.

The orchestra is well known throughout New England. Some of its recent engagements have included, among other New York colleges, Colgate, Cornell, and Elmira. During the past year the organization played for the Schine theatrical corporation, and recently it has completed a tour with the Smally theatre circuit.

Senior week activities will extend from Saturday, June 13, through Monday, June 15. Class day exercises will be held on Monday. Saturday evening, June 13, there will be an alumni informal in the gymnasium which will be exclusively for the graduates. After the senior ball, the final event will be the farewell chapel service of the class of 1931, to be held in Mead Memorial chapel Tuesday morning at 5:00 a. m.

The various senior committees report work progressing. George Foote and Geraldine Griffin are the chairmen of the senior week activities.

CHAPEL SPIRE TO BE REPAIRED SOON

Administrative Authorities Decide to Replace Spire After Final Examinations Begin.

The administration authorities of Middlebury college, after a long delay, have finally come to a definite decision regarding the action to be taken on the repairing of the steeple of Mead memorial chapel.

For a time opinion wavered between the practicality of taking the steeple down to the second or even the first portico, or of rebuilding it in an effort to replace the original spire. President Moody, after consulting various alumni, college authorities, and the descendants of the donor of the chapel, has announced officially that the spire will be rebuilt on the chapel to keep it as it was originally. In making this decision, consideration was given to several pictures of the chapel prepared by Storrs Lee, showing how the chapel would look if the steeple were removed to any of four different heights.

The work of repairing the spire will be started immediately after final examinations begin. This will guard against the possible danger of injuring students when entering or leaving chapel services, and it is expected that the repairs will be entirely finished before Commencement.

MARKOWSKI '32 IS NEW PRESIDENT OF UNDERGRAD. ASSN.

Is Outstanding in Athletics and Was Recently Elected to Waubanakee.

THIELE '32, SECOND IN THE BALLOTING

Four Men From the Junior Class Were Nominated for Office.

Edward W. Markowski of Meriden, Conn., was elected president of the undergraduate association for 1931-32 at a meeting held in the gymnasium Monday evening.

Other candidates in the election were A. Kirkland Sloper '32, Charles E. Thrasher '32, and Eugene H. Thiele '32.

The undergraduate association was originated to preserve and regulate Middlebury customs. It acts as a medium of student expression and is a link between the undergraduates and college authorities.

Mr. Markowski, who succeeds Richard A. Paul '31, in office, is prominent in campus activities. As a freshman he won his numerals in football. He has added two varsity letters in the same sport, and was chosen as quarterback on the all-Vermont team of the past season. He has participated in intramural basketball, baseball and handball and was a member of the varsity track squad during his freshman year. Mr. Markowski was secretary of the Under graduate association during his sophomore year and was also secretary of the student council. In the same year he served on the student curriculum committee. He is a member of the varsity "M" club and the Alchemists, and is vice-president of Blue Key. He is affiliated with Delta Kappa Epsilon.

Thiele Runner-Up.

Mr. Thiele was runner-up for president. Among other positions he has held that of junior week chairman and class president. He was recently elected to Waubanakee and is affiliated with the Delta Upsilon fraternity.

PARKER ORATORICAL CONTEST TOMORROW

Six Freshman to Take Part; Merrill Prize-Speaking Next Week.

Members of the class of '34 of the men's college are to contest for the Parker oratorical prizes tomorrow evening in Mead Memorial chapel at 8 p. m. The judges will be Grandstaff, assistant superintendent of the Morgan Horse farm, Mr. A. D. Seaver, principal of Middlebury High school, and one person yet to be selected.

The six men chosen to speak are: George R. Erskine, "Aims and Values of Scouting in America"; Lester H. Lovell, "The Citizen, His Duties and Privileges Under the Constitution of the United States"; Donald C. McKee, "War as Politics"; Thomas R. Noonan, "The Blind-fold on Justice"; Kennett F. Stedman, "Capital Punishment"; Harold D. Watson, "Why Germany Lost the War".

Trials for those who desired to enter the contest were held last Thursday. The speakers were selected from among seven freshmen by Dr. Vernon C. Harrington, Dr. Samuel E. Longwell, and Prof. Perley C. Perkins, who is training the contestants. The speeches will average about twelve minutes each. Nine sophomores tried out at the same time to enter the Merrill prize-speaking contests which will be held next Thursday. The final speakers have not yet been chosen.

BLUE IS FAVORED TO BE VICTOR AGAIN IN ANNUAL STATE MEET

Panther First in Distances and Field Events With U. V. M. in Weights.

MAROON BRINGS GOOD DASH MAN

Outlook Promising in Pole Vault; Sprinters Also in Good Shape.

Saturday, May 23, the annual Green Mountain track classic will take place on Porter Field.

The Vermont and Norwich tracksters will be here to do the Panther team battle in an attempt to wrest the title which the Blue and White so effectively defended at Northfield last year. At present, and barring accidents, the attempt of the Panther rivals will be a vain one. Middlebury has not had a successful track season as far as meets won is concerned. On the other hand, if the individual times and distances are considered, it appears that the Panther has improved since last season, all of which means that the Norwich and Vermont athletes will have to have improved a great deal if they are to offer the Panther anything substantial in the way of opposition. That there has been any such improvement does not seem to be the case.

Norwich placed only two men in first places last year. Barney, high jumper, who is no longer with them, and Hurley, hurdler, who did not go so well at the Easterns this past week-end, while MacLean took a second at the same Intercollegiate meet. This seems to indicate that Norwich has to fall back upon second and third place points for their total, with the possible exception of Rawley, a new man in state sprinting events, who will force if not lead Brown and Bibby to the tape in the dashes.

Vermont has its captain, Park, who looks good for three first places in the weight events. Aside from that the Vermonters have only Meehan, in the pole vault, to offer as first place material. Huey, in the 440 and Wright

TUFTS AND CLARKSON ARE NEXT OPPONENTS

Baseball Squad to Play Two Undefeated Teams This Week.

Fresh from an excellent victory over St. Mike's and a fairly successful Massachusetts trip, the Middlebury baseball team will meet Tufts and Clarkson at Porter field Thursday and Friday respectively. Next Tuesday the Panthers journey to Burlington to play Vermont in their fifth state series' game.

The showing of the pitchers on the trip is especially encouraging for future Middlebury success. Anderson was going very well against Boston university when rain stopped the game, and turned in an excellent performance in shutting out St. Mike's yesterday. Stefaniak twirled good ball to defeat Northeastern, and E. Olson pitched a fine game against Providence, although losing. Stefaniak and Olson will probably get the twirling assignments for this week's games, with Anderson opposing Vermont next Tuesday.

Batting Still Weak.

In the field, Middlebury did far better work than in their home games, so very likely the errors committed in home games were due more to the condition of the field than to inferior ability on the part of the players. Bat-

"UNTO EVERYONE THAT HATH SHALL BE GIVEN".

(An explanation of the third point in the Campus editorial policy.)

If greatness depends only upon the quantity of extra-curricular activities in which one participates, Middlebury has great men; if leadership is proven solely by the number of organizations that one heads, Middlebury has leaders; but if quality of extra-curricular work is the true sign of worth, some of Middlebury's greatest are really very small. Because we believe that the purpose of all college activities is more to train the individual to do one job well, than to do many jobs in a mediocre fashion, we devote this discussion to a consideration of the situation, and possible means for its improvement.

There are five distinct attitudes toward college activities to be found among Middlebury students, and four are definitely harmful. First there are those who feel that prominence is the end to be gained, that all efforts are to be directed toward acquiring the desired job, and that once it is attained, one may cease all exertion, and gloat happily over one more Kaleidoscope line. Second, there are students who consider prominence in activities a fine background against which to parade the greatness of self. These discharge the more obvious functions of their offices very ostentatiously, and fill the CAMPUS with statements beginning "John Smith, president of the blank club, recently announced that" etc. There will be jolts for these after graduation. Third, there are extremists who loudly tell a fraternity brother who has gained a coveted post that all activities are the bunk, just a foolish waste of time, and that he might better devote his working hours to his classes, and spend his recreation time on the golf course or at the movies. Fourth, there are extremists of the opposite view, who worship the great god activities, and devote all their time and energies to his service, giving to their courses only the minimum attention necessary to secure a passing grade. This is probably the most harmful attitude of all, yet it is surely the strongest force now operating in the extra-curricular field at Middlebury. Fifth, there is a small (very small) group of students who hold the singular view that college activities are a valuable supplement to classroom education, that one should enter into a few activities and do them well, and that their purpose is the development of the individual and not his advertisement.

Since there are seventy-five activities in Middlebury, and since each offers five or six positions of prominence, there would seem to be ample opportunity for the participation of any interested person. However we find that the inordinate ambition of the activities specialist, and the prevailing tendency to give to those already having the most, cause considerable concentration of activities leadership. We frequently find persons holding three or four captaincies, editorships, managerships, or presidencies, though it is universally conceded that both activities and individuals would benefit from a more equal distribution. For a student who spends but fifteen hours a week in class to devote forty-five hours a week to extra-curricular interests, is clearly wrong, yet there are several cases of this. Though such an individual hates the constant pressure, and prays for freedom, he seldom has the will power actually to take the step and disburden himself. And his loving friends, noting with approval his imposing record, beneficently add more.

Therefore we seek the limitation of college activities participation. We advocate a system under which every individual will receive a definite number of points for each activity, the exact number being proportional to the time and effort involved. No person would be allowed to carry more than a stated maximum of points during any one college year. Some minor officer of the undergraduate association could keep the participation record (there are several now without any work to do).

It will be argued that this plan reduces all activities participants to one level, and that no strong individuals will be apparent for membership in honor societies, and high senior elective positions. But should not these be awarded for outstanding excellence in a few activities, and not for dabbling in many? To be sure, there are some men thought great for the many jobs they hold, but the truly greatest make their jobs respected for those who hold them. After all, there are better proofs of a man's worth than the number of lines under his name in the Kaleidoscope.

PERSONALITY AND SCIENCE, by Lynn Harold Hough, New York, Harner and Bros.

When Dr. Hough delivered the Ayer Lectures for 1929-30, at the Colgate-Rochester Divinity School, he chose as his subject, "Personality and Science", and the five lectures have now been put into book form, under the same name.

In his first lecture the writer shows definitely that science as we know it is an achievement of human personality, and that as one surveys its history he sees that "here at least personality sits on the throne."

The second lecture considers the personal control of the world which science has made known. Not only is science the outcome of personality — it is now controlled by it, and will be controlled increasingly.

The ethical control of the materials of conduct and the aesthetic control of the materials of art are then treated by Dr. Hough. Here again, both in the field of ethics and art it is again personality that stands at the head, controlling and directing both. "The scientist by means of his free moving intelligence discovers and controls the uniformities of nature. The moral hero by means of his free moving intelligence comprehends the sanctions of ethics, and chooses to obey them. The great artist by means of his free moving intelligence apprehends and indeed often constructs the world he is to describe, and sets forth its lines and colors with creative power. The real universe has produced science. It must be interpreted in such a way as to make room for the scientist. It has produced morals. It must be so interpreted as to make room for the moral hero. It has produced art. It must be interpreted in such a fashion as to make room for the artist. In each case personality is on the throne."

Finally, spiritual control as the final fact of the universe is considered, the writer reaching the conclusion that behind personality is a spiritual power, which gives it its great harmonies and beauties of experience. There is yet room for the soul to wake and grow, and "it ought not to be too hard for us to come to the indubitable conviction that any world where science is possible is a world where personality is supreme."

The main characteristic of the work is its hopeful message and its repudiation of mechanistic and behavioristic tendencies. After having read such books as Lippmann's "Preface to Morals" and "Science the False Messiah" by Ayer, one is glad to meet an author who finds a place for personality in this world of science, and capably resolves the relation of the two. Dr. Hough not only brings wide personal experience to bear upon the subject, but has as his aid an extensive reading background which gives him a comprehensive view of the subject. His bibliography, inserted at the end of each chapter should be of interest to any person interested in the subject. The book in its entirety is written in a style and with a clarity of ideas which should commend itself to the really thoughtful reader.

N BY E, by Rockwell Kent, New York, New York Literary Guild.

Rockwell Kent's illustrations in the recent edition of Melville's "Moby Dick" have caused much favorable comment, and now, in N BY E, the public has the chance, not only to enjoy some more fine wood cuts by Kent, but a story as well.

N BY E is the story of an actual voyage to Greenland in a small boat, (the cutter "Direction" being 33 feet long) of the ship wreck there, and the adventures which followed. The story is not only interesting as a sea-faring tale, but is a commentary of life in Greenland, for the author has noted carefully the life and customs of the people. He has not only illustrated the experiences of his voyage, but has also included some poems and pictures by the Eskimos of that country.

While the tale is interesting because of the various experiences met, experiences ranging from cooking meals to being ship wrecked, it becomes monotonous in places because of the minute details given. It is the writer's purpose, apparently, to describe the voyage accurately, and in doing this he sometimes carries his art too far. One grows tired of reading continuous details regarding the canned goods they had to eat and the coffee they made.

The wood cuts, with which the book is illustrated, and which appear on almost every other page, are by far the best feature of the work. They alone would almost tell the tale, and combined with the author's account, they give the book a vividness which otherwise would be lost.

The writer says at the start that it is "his tale", that he has taken the liberty to record what interested him, and thus, if he at times seems to become too involved in details, it is because he saw in them something which touched his artist's mind. All told it is an interesting account of experiences and life in a country, about which the average man knows little or nothing, and therein lies its greatest worth.

Shreds and Patches

Unsuspected ability in the sprints has been revealed by students of both, or rather, either sex, when caught in front of Old Chapel, headed for the library, by one of these cute little showers.

Anyone with the gift for description by pen or brush would revel in the sight of seven young chappies, negligibly clad, struggling in line before a trickling shower in Starr, at seven-twenty-two on the night of the formal. "Mygodfellershurryupwillyaigotaseven-thirty taxi!"

Heard in South Starr: Subfrosh, visiting: "And what have you in the way of good times here in the dormitory?" Weary response: "One conscientious proctor!"

Now that the interfraternity baseball season is under way, we have the privilege of swearing lustily at a fumbling brother in the outfield. "One for all and all for each and two by four."

It is impolite to inquire why the Middlebury songs and yells have been shelved so completely since the end of November? College has ceased to resemble the illusion we read about in the Saturday Evening Post. Seriously, isn't there any place for the songs except when the football team is in action or the dormitory saxophonist wants to practise?

Hail to the systematic efficiency of the modern library staff! One starts a quest for a book in the upper eighth stack. A note suggests that the volume will be found in the reserve reading room. Downstairs, one finally locates the section reputed to contain the desired book. Mais non — and a helpful assistant removes all the books from the shelf one by one, before she remembers that the book is "off reserve", and back on the seventh lower stack! And the fun of it is that it can be kept up all afternoon — a divertisement that is never advertised in the catalogue.

What a campus this is going to be by June, if any more men go to sleep in the barber's chair. You don't mean to say they actually intended to look like that? Positively all that is lacking is numbers and uniforms.

When you're on the golf course, take time between swings to see how the spring green is spreading over the mountains—it's great—almost improves your game.

The height of diabolical scheming is to prohibit the driving of automobiles for the undergraduate body, make the faculty park all their new cars around campus, and finally grant a flock of seniors the right to own and operate cars themselves. The mental strain is terrific, trying to bear up.

One nice thing about this column is that one can use just about this many words to wonder what we should say in this last inch, and how we should say it, thereby covering the space! 'Nother fast one. j.t.

NOTICE

The gross outline of the course, THE RISE OF MAN AND HIS TENDENCIES, which is to be given next year will be posted on the bulletin board at Old Chapel. The class will be limited in size, so that those who wish to enroll may do so under any of the professors who will give the course, Professors Harrington, Longwell, Kline, White, and Kingsley.

NOTICE

Scholarship application blanks may be obtained at the offices of the deans at any time. These should be filled out and returned on or before May 29. Application blanks received after that time cannot be considered.

NOTICE

Those senior men who have not as yet been satisfactorily placed vocationally for the coming year are urged to see Mr. Seymour in Mr. Wiley's office, 4 Old Chapel, as soon as possible.

There is at present an executive position open in an exclusive club in New York state which requires an unusual type of college graduate. If there are members of the senior class who would consider such a position details may be secured at Mr. Wiley's office.

NOTICE FOR SENIORS

There will be a detailed announcement in next week's CAMPUS with regard to accommodations for guests of members of the senior class during Commencement.

COMMUNICATION

To the editor of the CAMPUS:

The pleasure of seeing the Middlebury-Norwich game last Saturday amply repaid me for the trip of 200 miles I made to be there. The earnestness of the players and the enjoyment they seemed to get out of the game, were a delight to me. That Middlebury was a loser meant little to me, in comparison with the keenness with which the members of the nine played the game.

In the CAMPUS of May 13, an editorial commenting on the subject of "Sports", speaks of the impossibility of

"TO BE HAPPIEST, MIX DUTY AND PLEASURE"

Pres. J. Edgar Park Insists Joy Comes While Performing Duty and After It is Done.

Pres. J. Edgar Park of Wheaton college gave the vespers sermon, May 17, at 7:00 p. m. He spoke on the falsity of choosing either duty or pleasure as a sole aim, and the importance of mingling them. He took as his text the old story of Naoman, the captain of the Syrian guard.

He said in part: "Naoman, rich, influential, and valorous, lived in Damascus, which is truly called 'the pearl of cities'. It lies in an oasis of the desert, and the beauty of a tropical night there is indescribable. It suggests revelry and self-indulgence. But Naoman, living in this gorgeous spot and envied of all, suddenly became a leper.

"Now some ways from Damascus lay another land, Israel, mountainous and austere. It suggested duty instead of pleasure. Naoman, hearing of prophets there, followed the crowd to Israel in hopes of a cure. No longer was he known as the rich Naoman; no one helped him. An obscure priest in a back street finally told him to bathe seven times in the Jordan; and Naoman became angry.

"Right here is the problem. There is no cure for real troubles in Damascus, the land of pleasure. You cannot 'laugh it off'. Which city will you dwell in? In the pearl of cities the end is death, in the bare place, they say it is eternal life.

"How can one choose? You have to leave superstition, and embrace knowledge. You have to beware of sciences that try to make you believe they are all in all; beware of religions that try to make you believe they are the only sect. It is better to be lost trying to find the truth than to live in a stuffy upholstered heaven.

"The answer to which city to choose is the solution Naoman found, to steer clear of both. Naoman took some earth from Israel to Damascus and worshipped on it there. Take duty and make it a part of your pleasure. From afar it looks barren, but when you get into the zest of it you forget it and enjoy yourself. Gertrude Stein said: 'Work is a thing which decides how it is to be, when it is done; naturally you don't know how it's going to be when it hasn't happened.'

Too often in the senior year, you realize you might have had a better time if you had not been so bent on a good time. Stop thinking of self and the meracle will happen. You will discover you are not in the grandstand but in the midst of the game. The zest of living lies in the contrast of the strain of working to the utmost, and the sense of conquest that comes when you are done. Happiness lies in this contrast between the work day and the holiday, and when you are through you can not tell which you have liked the better."

MUHLENBERG PAPER OFFERS POEM PRIZES

Object is to Offer More Encouragement to College Poets.

Feeling that the college poets of today, who may be the future leaders in this field as has been proven by such contemporary poets as Robinson, Millay, or Frost, are not receiving the proper encouragement or attention, "The Campus Muse" of Muhlenberg college, is offering $100 in prizes for the most outstanding works of college poets in the United States in 1930-31. Furthermore, arrangements have been made with a prominent publisher to have the prize-winning poems, as well as the most outstanding remaining works, printed in book form this summer. Copies of this will be sent to representative college libraries and metropolitan newspapers for review just to show the literary world what the 'college muses' can actually accomplish.

Poems for this contest have been divided into ten groups; a prize of ten dollars in gold is offered for the best work in each one of the ten classes. These groups are as follows: (1) Life and living, (2) Loyalty; to country or alma mater, (3) Love, (4) Religion, (5) Nature, (6) Personality, (7) Children, pets, and hobbies, (8) Campus life, (9) Humor or parodies, (10) General theme. At the top of each contribution the division into which it is entered must be stipulated.

The rules for the contest are few. Manuscripts must be typewritten, double-spaced, on one side of ordinary 8½ by 11 inch sheets of paper. Each page must have the name, address, college, and publication in which poem may have appeared, typewritten in the upper left-hand corner. Poems should be sent immediately to THE CAMPUS MUSE, Muhlenberg college, Allentown, Penna., for the contest closes at midnight, June 1, 1931.

Authors should enclose a list of personal data, prizes they may have won, campus activities, etc., with the names and addresses of their home-town newspapers, so that these may be notified immediately if their contributions should be awarded a prize or be accepted for publication.

Kappa Delta Rho Annual Formal Dance Held at Inn

Thirty-eight couples attended the annual spring formal dance of Alpha chapter of Kappa Delta Rho held at the Middlebury Inn, Saturday evening, May 16. Music was furnished by McNeeley's Melodians. WOMEN'S BASEBALL SEASON UNDER WAY

Freshmen Bow to Sophomores in First Game Played Last Wednesday.

The women's baseball season is now well under way. The sophomore team, captained by Elaine Updyke, won the initial game last Wednesday from the freshmen, led by Dorothy Major, with the score 9-8.

The sophomores took the lead early in the seven inning game and held it until the last inning, when the freshman nine broke loose with four runs. They were unable to tie the score and the game ended with the second year team one point to the good.

Junior-Seniors vs. Freshmen.

The freshmen overwhelmed the combined junior-senior team last Friday by the score, 40-16. The upperclass outfit was unable to offer adequate competition to the younger team until the last half of the five inning game, when they succeeded in adding eight runs to their score. The freshmen had already made seventeen points in the fourth and as they continued in the fifth with nine more, they completely surpassed their opponents.

NIGHT AND A FAST TRACK!

A TRACK man will tell you that records are broken when the track is fast. Think of this setting—a cool evening, the stands overflowing, the whole spectacle brilliantly lighted with G-E floodlights, and a fast track—a record simply couldn't stand the "gaff."

Nighttime, when people naturally turn to diversion, is the logical time for a track meet. Lack of support will be a thing of the past. And just watch the athletic fund grow.

G-E floodlighting projectors, largely the development of college-trained men, are easily adapted to any occasion whether football, track, tennis, commencement, receptions, or plays. Efficient G-E illumination promotes athletics and builds school spirit.

IN congratulating the winners in the great Camel contest we want at the same time to thank most cordially the approximately million men and women who displayed their friendly interest by sending in an entry.

We wish also to thank the millions of smokers throughout the country for the appreciation they are showing for our new Humidor Pack as is evidenced by the notable increase in the sale of Camel cigarettes.

By means of this dust-proof, germ-proof, moisture-proof Cellophane wrapping the rich aroma and full flavor of choice Turkish and mellow Domestic tobaccos have been air-sealed in Camels for your enjoyment.

If you have not tried Camels in the Humidor Pack all we ask is that you switch over to this brand for one day.

After you have learned how much milder, how much cooler, how much more enjoyable it is to smoke a perfectly conditioned fresh cigarette, go back to the harsh hotness of stale cigarettes if you can.

PANTHER WINS ONE LOSES TWO ON TRIP

Rain Shortens Boston University Game and Postpones Contest With Tufts.

The Middlebury baseball team, hampered by rainy weather on their Boston trip, dropped two and won one of the three games scheduled.

Boston University won by a 1-0 score, Northeastern was downed by a 6-4 count, and Providence took over the Panthers 7-4. The fourth game, scheduled with Tufts was rained out.

The first game against Boston University was called at the beginning of the sixth when a steady drizzle developed into a downpour. Boston university scored a run in the first inning to take the contest. When the game was called it looked as though the fans at Weston field would enjoy a fine pitchers battle. MacIvor the Terrier pitcher had only allowed the Panthers three scattered hits. One of there was a triple by Stefaniak, however, his mates could not drive him home. Boston university had one run to their credit at the end of the fray. The summary:

Northeastern Defeated 6-4

Tufts was the next on the slate but the continued rain caused the postponement of the contest. On Friday the Panthers broke into the win column by defeating Northeastern 6-4. Stefaniak was on the hill for Middlebury and even though he allowed nine bingles he kept them well scattered except in the fourth frame when the Northeastern team bunched their hits to put three runs over.

Middlebury gathered five hits and five runs in the first three innings. Gallagher then held the Hesslermen hitless till the ninth when Olson tripled and scored on Sorensen's sacrifice. Olson starred at bat, betting three hits in four trips to the plate. Two of these were triples.

BLUE TAKES U. V. M. FOR SECOND TIME

St. Michael's Match Postponed; Team on Three Day Trip to Play Colgate and Union.

The undefeated Middlebury tennis team left yesterday to play a series of matches with Union, Colgate, and St. Lawrence. The teams will play today, Thursday, and Saturday.

Union and Colgate have very strong teams so that a victory over either of these opponents is not anticipated. The St. Lawrence contest is a return match, and having won the first no great opposition is anticipated by Middlebury. To date five straight matches have been taken by the home team; St. Lawrence looms as a possible sixth.

The following men were selected to make the trip (in the order of their standing): Flagg '34, Sloper '31, Jennings '34, Huntington '31, Volkmar '33, and Allen '33.

With a score of 4-2 Middlebury defeated the Vermont tennis team for the second time within a week in a return match at Burlington Friday. The match scheduled with St. Michael's here Saturday was postponed on account of the condition of the courts until Monday and then was again postponed.

Flagg and Tupper, number one men put on an interesting tussle, the Green and Gold man taking the match 6-2, 7-5. Captain Sloper won a grueling match from Wheeler, 8-10, 6-1, 6-4. Jennings of Middlebury disposed of Woodward 6-3, 6-3, while Volkmar took the fourth singles match from his opponent, Bisson, 6-4, 6-4.

Middlebury broke even in the two doubles matches. Allen and Robart dropped a close decision to Tupper and Wheeler 4-6, 7-5, 6-4. The other Panther combination, Flagg and Jennings defeated Bisson and Woodward, 6-2, 6-2.

INTRAMURAL NINES PLAY FIRST ROUND

The intramural baseball series is progressing very rapidly. All of the opening round has been played and the semi-finals are expected to be run off this week.

The teams which will play in the semi-finals are Delta Upsilon vs. Alpha Sigma Phi and Chi Psi vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Chi Psi 11 — Beta Psi 2

Chi Psi defeated Beta Psi in the second game of the intramural series Friday, May 15 on Porter field. Hadley, on the mound for Beta Psi, twirled well but was not supported by his team-mates. Williams pitched a good game for Chi Psi.

The score:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	R	H
Chi Psi	0	0	4	2	4	1	x	11	5
Beta Psi	0	0	0	0	0	0	2	2	2

Batteries: Chi Psi, Williams, Hastings; Beta Psi, Hadley, Taylor.

Delta Upsilon 8 — Beta Kappa 7

The Delta Upsilon-Beta Kappa game Saturday was the most interesting game of the series thus far played. After trailing by four points for two innings, Beta Kappa staged a seventh inning ralley which netted three runs, only to lost the game 8-7. Kelly played a good game for Beta Kappa.

The score:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	R	H
D. U.	2	2	2	2	0	0	0	8	9
B. K.	1	1	2	0	0	0	3	7	10

The batteries: Delta Upsilon, Bakeman, Newman; Beta Kappa, Collyer, Riccio.

ting continues to be somewhat of a problem, as Middlebury has seldom been able to equal their opponents in hits, and the whole team often fails to hit when runs are needed. This fault is being rapidly corrected, however, and fair hitting may be expected in the coming games.

Tufts, Middlebury's first opponent, has been unbeaten in nine games this season. However, they were tied by Boston university last Saturday, and have been in somewhat of a slump recently. In spite of this, they are favored to win because of their good record earlier in the season and undeniable strength. The Panther's chances against them on the home field are about fifty-fifty.

Clarkson, although undefeated, has had a poor season in that half of their games have been rained out. The Engineers do not play many teams in common with Middlebury, and the only game played against local opponents was a 4-0 triumph for Clarkson against St. Michael's May 2. Since that time, they have continually suffered postponements, which usually do not improve a team's playing any. Middlebury appears to have an even chance against them, perhaps a slight advantage, since the game is to be played on the home diamond.

Vermont appears to be too powerful a team for Middlebury to take over this season, although the Blue and White, aided by considerably more experience than before, should not be beaten as badly as in the 9-0 game here a week ago Thursday. Since that encounter, Vermont has chalked up victories against St. Mike's, 5-0, and Dartmouth 8-5, although losing their first home game in two years to the hard hitting Springfield Gymnasts 3-1.

PANTHER SIXTH IN INTERCOLLEGIATES

Scores Ten Points in Pole Vault, Mile, Hurdles, and Broad-jump.

A five man Middlebury team scored ten points to take sixth place in the Eastern Intercollegiate track meet held at Worcester, Mass., Saturday, May 16.

Springfield college won the meet for the second consecutive year with a score of 53 1-3 points. Northeastern was close behind with 52; Worcester tech made 19 1-3; Rhode Island tallied 17; and Connecticut aggies came fifth with 13.

In this keenly contested meet, Middlebury gained places in four events. MacLean '33, won a second in the 120 high hurdles, Paul '31, tied for first place with Merling of Springfield at 11 feet, 5 1-2 inches in the pole vault, Thayer '31, took third in the 880 yard run, and Brown '33, won third place in the broad jump.

Five intercollegiate records fell during the meet, including shot put, javelin, 220 low hurdles, 880 yard run, and the 120 high hurdles. Chubbuck of Connecticut aggies heaved the shot 46 feet 3-4 inch and Footrick hurled the javelin 198 feet, 10 1-4 inches, deciding the victory for Springfield. In the races, MacKenzie of Northeastern ran the 220 low hurdles in 24 4-5 seconds, Bown of Springfield won the 880 in 1 minute, 58 2-5 seconds, and Powers, Northeastern, set a time of 15 3-5 seconds in the 120 high hurdles.

Middlebury Favored to Sweep Green Mountain Conference Meet Over Norwich and Vermont; Taking Many Places In Dashes, Distance Events, and Jumps, With Opponents Gathering Points in Hammer Throw, Discus and Shot Put in the 880 will furnish most of the few remaining points Vermont seems to command.

Middlebury is Ready.

Under the careful tutelage of Coach Brown the Panther trackmen will be in top form Saturday. Brown '33, looks good for the 100. Fallon '34, and Hanson '31, will be at their best; while Thayer '31, shows no ill effect after his fast half for a third place at the Intercollegiates last Saturday. Sears '34, will have little trouble in taking the two mile run, while Perrin '31, and Harwood '32, are in condition to give him competition.

The field events find two freshmen considerably strengthening the javelin event, Lovell and Erkilla, the former having broken the College record in that event less than a month ago. Captain Paul tied for first at the Intercollegiates in Worcester, pole vaulting 11 feet 5 inches, later doing 11 feet 10 inches in a jump off for the award. This showing is evidence of the fact that the Panther captain is in fine form for his last state meet appearance. MacKenzie has been placing consistently this year and took a first against Colby. High jumping finds Affleck and Schoonmaker ready and fit to defend the event for the Blue, while Brown '33, Montgomery '33, Johnson '32, and Williams '34, are all ready to stave off any attempts by invaders to place in the broad jump. The weights are the Panther's weak department. Brown '33, is ready to step into a place in the shot-put while Brink '31, Duffany '31, and Reilly '32, will be throwing the hammer, but not many points can be reckoned as coming from the tosses.

Dashes are Uncertain.

Just what will happen in the dashes is a toss-up. At present Brown '33, looks as though he will repeat his performance of last year, taking the 100. Bibby '32, and Rawley, a Norwich man, will be pushing Brown to the tape with not much daylight between any of the three. The 220 yard dash is even more of a toss-up with Bibby, wearing the blue, and Rawley the maroon of Norwich, battling for first. Rawley is a Plebe at the Riding University who has displayed considerable ability having a 10 flat 100 to his credit and it is not without possibility that he will be among the winners when the meet is over.

Blue Has Distance Men.

Fallon, Middlebury freshman star, should have things his own way in the quarter with Deemer '33, and Sanzo '31, of the Panther battling with Huey of Vermont for the remaining places. Thayer '31, holder of the College half mile record, can be relied upon to come through in this event while Fallon should take second with Huey of Vermont forcing him. The mile run finds all three men who placed last season, competing again. The order of their finish was Hanson (M), Cement (N), and Hadley (V). Chase of the Panther team has been coming up fast this year and may break into the scoring sheet of the mile, supplanting either Clement or Hadley. The distance race seems as though it will be a repetition of last year's sweep for the Panther with Sears '34, taking first instead of Bob Dalton, while Perrin '31, and Harwood '32, battle it out for second and third.

Hurdles Promise Interest.

The hurdle races seem to be another Panther event, if MacLean's showing at the Easterns, where he took a second place in the highs, means anything. Hurley, the Norwich star, failed at Worcester and will, to all appearance, run second to MacLean in the highs, while Phillips ond Cohen of Vermont or Banta '33, will come in for the third places. Hurley, however, won last year, and he will be a dangerous threat. Hurley should take the lows for Norwich with either MacLean '33, or Cohen of Vermont in second place.

Panther Supreme in Field.

In the field events the Panther will gather several more points as Lovell '34, holder of the college javelin record takes a first, with Erkilla '34, running second. Bunting of Norwich will probably come through for the extra point. The broad jump promises to be another Blue event with the following order probable, Brown '33, Montgomery '33, Johnson '32, and Williams '34. Childs may get a point for Vermont. The high jump will find Affleck '31, and Schoonmaker '34, battling for first place while Lang of Norwich should come through for a third. The pole vault is the most uncertain of the field events. Captain Paul went up and over 11 feet 10 inches at the Easterns but will be unable to read that height here due to the jumping conditions. Thus hampered the Blue captain will find opposition in Meehan of Vermont who hops more than 11 feet. Either of these men may take first, while Smith of Norwich and MacKenzie '33, may enter the scoring.

Weights Favor Opposition.

The weight events will find the Vermont captain having things his own way. First places in the shot, hammer, and discus will go to Captain Park of Vermont, while Norwich looks good for a second in each of the events. Brown '33, Middlebury, should take a third with a possible second in the shot-put, while Duffany '31, Brink '31, and Reilly '32, all Middmen, have a fine chance to appear in the scoring sheet for the hammer throw.

Sum Total Favors Middlebury.

As far as comparative scoring is concerned a little may be gathered by the meets which both Panther and Catamount had with the Colby tracksters. Colby defeated both Green Mountain teams. Middlebury suffered, 72-63, while the Vermonters were swamped, 99 and 2-3 — 35 and 1-3. The opposition from our 'Brothers by the Lake' will come in the weight events, while Norwich, on the other hand, has barely one man who seems capable of a first place, despite the fact that they won from Trinity, 71-55.

If the results Saturday are anything that the times and distances of the men seem to indicate the meet will go to the Panther by a score which will closely resemble last years total, the Panther coming through for about 80 points while Vermont and Norwich battle for the remaining 55 points, most probably splitting with little advantage to either team as was the case last year.

The following is a possible summary of the meet:

100 yard dash: Brown, M, first; Bibby, M, second; Rowley, N, third.

220 yard dash: Rowley, N, first; Bibby, M, second; Wright, V, third.

440 yard dash: Fallon, M, first; Huey, V, second; Deemer M third.

880 yard run, Thayer, M, first; Fallon, M, second; Wright, V, third.

Mile run: Hanson M first; Clement, N, second; Hadley, V, third.

Two mile run: Sears, M, first; Perrin, M, second; Harwood, M, third.

120 yard high hurdles: MacLean, M, first; Hurley, N, second; Banta, M, or Philipps, V, third.

220 yard low hurdles: Hurley, N, first; Cohen, V, second; MacLean, M, third.

High jump: Affleck, M, first; Schoonmaker, M, second; Lang, N, third.

Broad jump: Brown, M, first; Montgomery, M, second; Johnson, M, or Williams, M, third.

Hammer throw: Park, V, first; Lemaire,N, second; Brink, M, third.

Discus: Park, V, first; Berry, N, second; Brown, M, third.

Javelin: Lovell, M, first; Erkilla, M, second; Bunting, N, third.

Shot put: Park, V, first; Berry, N, second; Brown, M, third.

Pole vault: Paul, M, first; Meehan, V, second; MacKenzie, M, third.

Middlebury, 80; Norwich, 31; Vermont, 24.

"athletics for all' in Middlebury, because of the lack of "equipment for all". It seemed to me as I looked at the equipment on the ball field last Saturday, and compared it with that of forty-odd years ago, that there was enough for the whole college. Back the forty-odd years ago, a Middlebury nine made a three day trip, playing four games, and the entire equipment, other than the uniforms, consisted of two base balls, six clubs, one chest protector, one mask, one glove for the first baseman, (under the then existing rules, no other fielder than the first baseman was permitted to use a glove) and one catcher's mit. By the way, that was the first time a catcher's mit was used in Vermont by any college catcher.

Pardon this from a man who played four years on the nine and never received an "M", big or little.

An old grad, (1890)

(Editor's note: We take this opportunity to apologize to our correspondent for the clumsy expression of our meaning in the editorial of May 13.

We wrote: "Present courts, fields, and tracks are being utilized one hundred percent, and are insufficient. Unfortunately an 'athletics for all' policy requires equipment for all, and Middlebury cannot now meet that requirement."

When we said that Middlebury cannot meet the "equipment for all" requirement, we did not insinuate an insufficiency of bats, balls, or catcher's mits. We were thinking of conditions at Porter field, where baseball and track teams both practice at the same time, and one stands an uncomfortably good chance of being struck by a stray javelin, hammer, or foul. We were thinking of those Middlebury track and baseball teams, consistently weak in early season competition, because even the colleges to which Middlebury considers herself far superior, have cages and other training facilities. We were thinking of tennis courts where one must wait half the afternoon for a chance to play, and then on a surface so poor that our tennis team acts lost when they go onto well kept courts in their games away. We were thinking of McCullough gymnasium (used by both men and women), so jammed with lockers that even the serving kitchen is now filled with them; so inadequate in size that the director's office has become a rub-down room, a new (and smaller) office being pieced out of a corner of the stage; so deficient in space that the gymnastic equipment has had to be removed from the main room to allow for more basketball space (though even now the various intramural and varsity teams are disadvantaged by insufficient practice); in short so completely inadequate that its thorough utilization from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. fails to meet the requirements of the college. We are thinking that McCullough gymnasium was acquired in 1910 and Porter field in 1913, and that in 1913 Middlebury had 330 students and that there are now 635.

To be sure, we do not believe that an undue proportion of the college's money should be turned into the production of winning athletic "machines", but we do maintain that every Middlebury student has a just right "to play the game" under conditions comparable to those prevailing in other small colleges. We cannot say that he now enjoys that right. The CAMPUS strongly advocates further development of interfraternity, interclass, and interdormitory sports. We seek increased facilities only because the consummation of such a program is impossible with present inadequate facilities.

It was against shortage of this equipment, and not of uniforms and baseball masks, that we protested last week. If our meaning was not clear, we are very sorry.)

Program of Music to Be Given at Studio, Tuesday

A program of music for the pianoforte will be given at the music studio Tuesday evening, May 26, at eight o'clock.

Part 1 will be selections from the Sonatas of Beethoven, played by Carolyn Pike '32, Julia Sitterly '33, Dexter Davison, Joseph De Gray of Middlebury, and Virginia Emerson of Bridport. Part II will consist of miscellaneous selections from the compositions of classic and moden composers.

Alpha Sig 3 — K. D. R. 2

Monday, May 18, Alpha Sigma Phi defeated Kappa Delta Rho in an eight inning game by the score 3-2. Hardy, pitching for the Alpha Sigs allowed but one hit. Miner was touched up for seven hits.

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	R	H
A. S. P.	1	0	0	0	0	1	0	1	3	7
K. D. R.	1	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	2	1

The batteries: A. S. P., Hardy, Perry; K. D. R., Miner, Ciazza.

Sig Ep 16 — Neutral 2

Yesterday afternoon Sigma Phi Epsilon won handily over the Neutral team by the score 16-2. The wide score was due to poor fielding on the part of the Neutrals and the absence of Yerovitz, their regular pitcher. Wardell pitched a good game for S. P. E.

	1	2	3	4	5	6	R	H
S. P. E.	8	0	3	1	1	3	16	18
Neutrals	0	0	1	0	0	1	2	4

The batteries: S. P. E., Wardell, Rosbrook; Neutrals, Hand, Snow.

The teams which will play in the semi-finals are Delta Upsilon vs. Alpha Sigma Phi and Chi Psi vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon.

There are several interesting facts connected with this question. Undoubtedly the general opinion of persons about the height and weight of the spire is incorrect. The portion of the steeple which fell from the chapel was about twelve feet in length and weighed approximately thirty pounds. This lack of weight is due to the composition of the spire which is almost entirely copper. The timbers at the base have rotted because of rain falling between seams in the copper. A small pipe, three quarters of an inch in diameter, went down through the spire, and this bent, breaking the shell off. The workmen have stated that they would not have put ropes around it, if they had realized how light it was.
